

On the cover

A divided country faces an election that will tear it still further apart: leader, page 13. Under Boris Johnson, the spectre of no-deal would return in December 2020, page 54. If the Lib Dems surge, they could hurt the Tories as much as Labour, page 85

• The carbon-capture conundrum Thinking seriously about pulling carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere is difficult, but necessary: leader, page 18. Climate policy depends on being able to trap carbon dioxide. That is hard: briefing, page 22

• NATO: the good, the bad, the ugly New troublemakers have emerged in the alliance: leader, page 14. NATO marks its 70th anniversary in chaotic fashion, page 50

• A special report on the Asian tigers After half a century of success, South Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Singapore must reinvent their economies, after page 44

• Our books of the year The best books of 2019 were about the IRA, Harper Lee's lost work, rational economics and an Ohio housewife, page 79. And by our own staff: this year our writers went to the Moon and back, page 82
